It is a wonderful Catholic tradition to request a Mass Intention for loved ones; living or deceased. In fact, asking for Mass intention for the deceased is not only Catholic tradition, it is biblical (2 Maccabees 12: 38-46).

Mass intention is also a wonderful gift for any special occasion: birthday, anniversary, in thanksgiving for a prayer answered, etc.

Please call the parish office to schedule a Mass Intention.

SPIRITUAL LIFE

FROM THE DESK OF OUR PASTORAL ADMINISTRATOR

Fr. Emerson Rodriguez Delgado

Have you ever felt, deep in your soul, that God might be asking more of you than you're ready—or willing—to give? Pope Francis speaks of Him as "the God of another possibility." That's a comforting thought, isn't it? But if we're honest, it's also a little terrifying. What if stepping into that possibility means walking away from the safety of what you know? What if it means confronting the parts of yourself you've been avoiding?

Let's make this personal. Imagine Jesus scrolling through your life like a timeline. I'm talking about everything—the late-night searches in your browser history, the words you wish you could take back, the dreams you buried because they felt too risky or impossible. The potential God gave you that you've ignored, paused, or dismissed. He sees all of it.

What would He see? A life of honest faith? Or a carefully curated performance? Something you've polished up just for the show. How many of us are spiritually starving while everything on the outside looks fine? "That's me, Lord."

That fig tree Jesus talks about in His parable in Lk 13:1-9—it's a mirror. For three years, it bore no fruit. Nada. The owner says, "Cut it down. Why should it waste the soil?" That feels harsh, doesn't it? But think about it: how many of us are living like that fig tree? Soaking up blessings. Yet producing... nothing. No change. No growth. No impact. Just leaves, dragged around by the winds of life.

Here's a hard truth: What's the point of faith if it doesn't change you? Why spend hours in worship, in prayer, in routine religious habits if your heart stays the same? Christianity isn't supposed to be a hobby or a social club. It's not something to fit neatly into your life when it's convenient. It's not about being "better than most people" or checking off boxes on some imaginary "good Christian" checklist. Christianity is about transformation. And transformation is hard. Radical. Messy. Uncomfortable. It forces you to wrestle with who you are and who God is calling you to be. And let me tell you—wrestling with God's calling will shake you to your core.

Now, we love to talk about our "Christian roots," don't we? We love to say, "Oh, I've been in the church since I was in diapers," but roots mean nothing if they don't bear fruit. Where's the justice? The compassion? The love? The unity right here in St Anthony? And not just the easy kind of love—a quick kind word or a "friendly" smile or that "bless your heart" we throw out to avoid dealing with people. No, no, I mean the kind of love that costs you something. Your bias? Your sense of superiority? That judgmental attitude? That gossip? Oops! I went there. The kind of love that makes you stay when you'd rather walk away. The kind of love Jesus lived—messy, real, sacrificial, kenotic love.

Here's the thing: God loves you as you are, but He never intended to leave you there. He sees the potential hidden under the distractions, the insecurities, and the excuses you've been making for years. Like the gardener in Jesus' parable, God looks at your life and says, "Give it one more year. I'll dig around it. I'll fertilize it. I'll do everything I can to help it grow." Thank you, Jesus, for your patience!

But let's not romanticize this—fertilizer? That's just a nice word for manure. Oh yes, growth is messy. It's uncomfortable. It stinks. And growth hurts. Pruning? Painful. Transformation isn't a spring cleaning or gentle makeover for Lent. It's tearing down the walls you've built around your heart, your family, and your community. It's uprooting bad habits, breaking toxic cycles, and letting go of the things you think you can't live without.

So, let me ask you again: What kind of fruit is God asking you to grow? And I'm not talking about the fruit you want to grow—the kind that earns applause or makes you look good. I'm talking about the fruit He knows you need. Maybe it's compassion for someone who's hard to love. Maybe it's forgiveness when holding onto bitterness feels easier. Maybe it's patience when you can't see the end of the struggle. Whatever it is, it's probably not the easy thing. But it's the right. It's the thing that will transform you into who God created you to be.

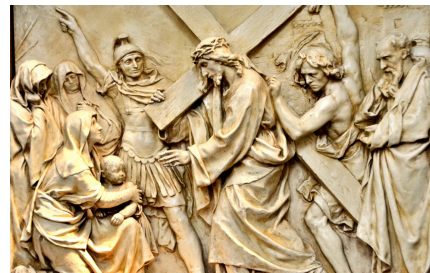

So, my dear friends, what will it be? Will you stay the same?

God is still the God of another possibility. Offering you one more chance to become the person He created you to be. Are you ready to grow together here as St Anthony Fam? If you are, somebody say, "Amen" Amen!

PRAY FOR OUR MILITARY

The men and women who serve in the armed forces do so with a sacrificial love for our country and the world. Lifting them up in prayer to our Lord must be our humble, and yet great support for them.

Lord, may your love encircle our military as they work across the world to install justice and peace for all. And be their hope through the difficulties and stress they face each day.

NEWS FROM OUR SCHOOL

Pi Day provided the perfect opportunity to engage our students, faculty, and staff in a math-inspired celebration. Together, we showcased our creativity by crafting the iconic  $\pi$  symbol and enjoyed a delicious treat of apple pie.

Celebrated annually on March 14th (3/14), this special day honors the mathematical constant  $\pi$  (pi), approximately 3.14. What a perfectly calculated way to recognize the significance of 3.14! 🥧

The middle school tour offered our 5th-grade students a meaningful opportunity to explore their options and make well-informed decisions about their middle school education. Throughout the tour, they visited Prince of Peace, St. Joseph's, and Our Lady of the Rosary, with Hughes Academy serving as the final destination, bringing this insightful and enriching experience to a close.

Our St. Patrick's Day celebrations began with great enthusiasm as our talented team designed inventive traps to outsmart the mischievous Leprechaun. True to his reputation, he left a trail of playful chaos, turning our school upside down! The day was filled with joy, enchantment, and engaging activities in every classroom. It was truly a memorable and festive occasion for all.
